Instructions

When to use this form

You can use this form to ask:

- your RRSP issuer to transfer the value of your RRSP annuity to another RRSP, a RRIF, an SPP, or a PRPP or to transfer it to buy another annuity;
- your RRIF carrier to transfer an excess amount to your RRSP, SPP, or PRPP or to buy an annuity.

How to complete this form

- Part 1 The applicant (annuitant) requesting the direct transfer fills out Part 1. The applicant then prints and signs four copies of the form and gives them to the new RRSP or annuity issuer, RRIF carrier, SPP or PRPP administrator to which the property is to be transferred (the transferree).
 - If the transferee has a signed letter from the applicant requesting the direct transfer, the transferee must attach the letter and fill out and sign Part 1 of all four copies for the applicant.
- Part 2 The transferee fills out and signs Part 2 of all four copies. The transferee then sends all copies of the form to the previous RRSP issuer, RRIF carrier or the SPP or PRPP administrator that will be transferring the property (the transferor).
- Part 3 The transferor fills out and signs Part 3. The transferor then keeps one copy and sends the remaining three copies to the transferee along with the property being transferred.
- Part 4 The transferee fills out and signs Part 4 of the remaining three copies. The transferee then returns a copy to the transferor, sends a copy to the annuitant or member, and keeps one copy for record purposes.

How to report the amounts transferred

Transferor: The transferor does not withhold tax on amounts that are transferred using this form.

An RRSP issuer who is transferring the value of an RRSP annuity reports the value on a T4RSP slip for the year of the transfer.

A RRIF carrier who is transferring a RRIF amount reports the amount on a T4RIF slip for the year of the transfer.

An SPP or PRPP administrator who is transferring the value of the SPP or PRPP reports the amount on a T4A slip for the year of the transfer.

Transferee: The RRSP issuer, RRIF carrier, SPP or PRPP administrator, or annuity issuer who is receiving the transfer, issues a receipt to the applicant.

Individual: The applicant attaches a copy of the T4RSP slip or T4RIF slip, as well as a copy of the receipt, to his or her income tax and benefit return for the year of the transfer. The applicant includes the amount shown on the T4RSP slip or T4RIF slip in taxable income, and deducts the amount shown on the receipt from taxable income.

Transfer from spousal or common-law partner RRSP or RRIF:

If the transfer is from a spousal or common-law partner RRSP or RRIF, the applicant may also have to complete Form T2205, Amounts from a Spousal or Common-law Partner RRSP, RRIF or SPP to Include in Income.

The applicant will have to complete Form T2205 if all of the following conditions exist:

- the applicant's spouse or common-law partner made a contribution to an RRSP of the applicant in the year of the transfer or in either of the two preceding years;
- the applicant is transferring the amount to buy an annuity that can be commuted in three years, or earlier; and
- either box 7a) or 7b) of Part 3 is ticked yes.

Definitions

Administrator - the person, organization, or institution that is responsible for administering an SPP or a PRPP.

Annuitant - the person who is entitled to receive payments from an RRSP or a RRIF.

Common-law partner – a person who is not your spouse, with whom you are living in a conjugal relationship, and to whom at least one of the following situations applies. He or she:

a. has been living with you in a conjugal relationship, and this current relationship has lasted at least 12 continuous months;

Note

In this definition, 12 continuous months includes any period you were separated for less than 90 days because of a breakdown in the relationship.

- b. is the parent of your child by birth or adoption; or
- c. has custody and control of your child (or had custody and control immediately before the child turned 19 years of age) and your child is wholly dependent on that person for support.

Excess amount – an amount in excess of the minimum amount payable each year from a RRIF.

Member – an individual (other than a trust) who holds an account under the plan and who is entitled to receive payments from an SPP or a PRPP.

PRPP – a retirement savings plan to which you or your participating employer or both can contribute. Any income earned in the PRPP is usually exempt from tax as long as it remains in the plan.

Qualifying annuity – an annuity described under clause 60(l)(ii)(A), including annuities:

- for the annuitant's life;
- \bullet for the lives jointly of the annuitant and the spouse or common-law partner; and
- with a guarantee period or for a term not greater than 90 years, minus the lesser of the annuitant's age or the spouse's or common-law partner's age.

Qualifying RRIF – a RRIF established before 1993 that has no property transferred or contributed to it after 1992, or any RRIF established after 1992 that contains only property transferred from another qualifying RRIF.

Spouse – a person to whom you are legally married.

SPP – a pension plan or similar arrangement that has been prescribed under the Income Tax Regulations as a "specified pension plan" for the purposes of the Income Tax Act (currently the Saskatchewan Pension Plan is the only arrangement prescribed to be a specified pension plan). Many of the rules related to RRSPs also apply to SPPs.

Transferee – the administrator, issuer, or trustee of the plan, or carrier of the fund to whom the amount is transferred.

 $\textbf{Transferor}-\text{the administrator, issuer, or trustee of the plan, or carrier of the fund \textbf{from} \ \text{whom the amount is transferred.}$
